These agents go above and beyond to demonstrate their passion, professionalism, and commitment to helping buyers and other professionals succeed. Insurance Journal's Agents of the Year come from all regions of the country, live and work in cities or towns big and small, and know the importance of giving back.

Cameron Annas joined Granite Insurance in 2013 as a business risk consultant. During his tenure with the agency, Cameron has developed and built what is known today as the Adventure & Entertainment National Practice Group. In 2021 Cameron was promoted to CEO of Granite Insurance, where he continues to lead the Adventure & Entertainment Team and focuses on surrounding the agency with a talented and high caliber team who never takes their eye off of Empowering others to be successful!

This award is not a recognition of what we have done, but a recognition of who we are! Empowering others is why we exist and who we are to the core! It's amazing at what can be accomplished when the focus is outward, rather than inward.
